eLifespaces Appointed Authorized Apple Reseller

[CHARLESTON, SC – 9/25/2008] – eLifespaces unveiled the expansion of its entertainment systems division with Apple, Inc. at last night's Chamber of Commerce function being hosted at their Meeting Street facility. Apple TV, iPods, and Macs were all on display at the event. Being appointed as an Authorized Apple Reseller, eLifespaces will begin integrating Apple products into a multitude of entertainment system options, both residentially and commercially.

"We have followed the innovations made by the team at Apple for some time," says Fred Fabian, eLifespaces' President and Chief Designer. "They clearly get it. We are in awe of the far reaching possibilities now available to those seeking entertainment solutions at home and at work."

With an increasingly broad array of solutions, along with one of the strongest brands in the industry, Apple's critically-acclaimed products are rapidly creating new entertainment opportunities. eLifespaces will specialize in the most sought-after markets with valuable backing and resources from Apple. More specifically, this involves turn-key solutions for the networking, storage, broadcast, and the audio/video markets.

"Using my iPod Touch, I was able to control songs playing throughout the distributed audio system," according to Ed Dopson, eLifespaces systems programmer. "I just downloaded an interface from iTunes then keyed it into the Apple TV. That was it!"

"One of our long-time customers was so taken by the functions of Apple TV, she ordered five of them to give to her children for early Christmas presents. This isn't surprising," said Fabian. "At $229/each, the entertainment options are numerous."
